The Deodis of Hyderabad a Lost Heritage Rani Sarma

In the nineteenth and the early twentieth centuries the nobles of the princely state of hyderabad lived in palatial residences known as deodis some 1200 of which once existed in the old city of hyderabad. Almost all of these traditional homes have been demolished in recent yearsm leaving little trace of a now vanished lifestyles.

The deodies of hyderabad takes you on an evocative journey into the past as the author describes some of the prominent deodis and the lives of the grand nobles who lived in them. She recreates and recaptures the ambiance that once pervaded in these stately homes and then contrasts what once was with what is left of the deodis.
